Scholarship Book

-Contact-

All information and/or applications are available from Mrs. Morgan in the Career Center /Media Center. We will receive “2015-2016” information during the year; dates may change, some scholarships may be canceled, and new ones may be added. Look for scholarship updates in the Career Center, Timpview website, the counseling bulletin board (outside the Counseling Office), on Scholar Box and from school announcements made over the school’s intercom system. Please note that most of the following deadlines are based on the previous year’s information.

-Scholarships-

Scholarships are the most publicized and talked about forms of financial aid. When looking for scholarships, students and parents need to keep the following in mind:

- 1) Most scholarships are provided by the colleges themselves. If you are applying for a scholarship from a particular school, you must first make application for admission to that school. If you need a letter of recommendation for a scholarship application, allow at least two weeks for the teacher, counselor, or ecclesiastical leader to complete it.
- 2) A one-year scholarship is only for one year; a renewable scholarship can become a four-year scholarship.
- 3) When students and parents hear the words “financial aid”, they think of scholarships. It is important to remember that most financial aid is not awarded in the form of scholarships.
- 4) Smaller, local scholarships are often much easier to get than those sponsored by large organizations or businesses. Coca Cola, for example, receives over 120,000 applications for their 250 scholarships. A local Rotary Club may receive only 10 applications for their scholarship.
- 5) While it is not easy to obtain scholarships, students and parents who are willing to invest the time and energy may find that their efforts pay off handsomely. There are thousands of private scholarships offered every year. Most scholarships fall into one of the following categories:
 - ACADEMIC - The majority of academic scholarships are given out by colleges themselves. The higher a student’s GPA, class rank, and ACT/SAT scores, the greater the scholarship opportunities.
 - MINORITY - In order to have a more diverse student body, many colleges are eager to attract minority students to their campuses. A number of these colleges offer sizeable scholarships to qualified minority applicants. Minority students should contact the financial aid office of any college they are considering and/or search the college website to see if minority scholarships are available.
 - ATHLETIC - Outstanding athletes are often offered large scholarships. To insure that all athletes are prepared for college level work, the NCAA has strict eligibility requirements that athletes must meet before they can receive a scholarship or even play a sport in college. These requirements can be very confusing. Athletes need to meet with their counselor, or Mr. Warner, as early as possible to discuss requirements and to make sure they are taking the right courses. For more information, visit the NCAA web site at www.ncaa.org.

- TALENT - In order to win a talent scholarship, a student must truly be outstanding. They must also understand that there is usually a great deal of competition for these scholarships. While most talent scholarships are awarded to music, art, theater, and dance, talent scholarships are awarded in a variety of other areas (e.g. leadership, public speaking, film making, etc.). Clubs, organizations, and corporations all offer talent scholarships, but the majority of these scholarships are awarded by the college the student plans to attend.
- LOCAL - Local organizations provide numerous scholarships to students in their own communities. These scholarships are generally in smaller amounts, but are easier to obtain because the competition isn't as great. Students should also look for scholarship opportunities in their local newspapers.

-Grants-

A grant is money that is given to a student to help him/her pay for college, usually because of financial need. This money does NOT have to be repaid. The federal government offers the Pell Grant to families with need. This is a federally funded grant that provides billions of dollars each year to lower-income families. As the largest need-based student aid program, the Pell Grant is the foundation for most financial aid packages. The maximum Pell Grant award (2013-2014) was $5,730. When a family fills out the FAFSA, they automatically apply for a Pell Grant. This should be done as soon after January 1st as possible. If parents do not have tax information completed, they can use estimated figures. FAFSA worksheets can be picked up in the Counseling Office usually the second week in January or you could fill out the FAFSA4caster to get an estimate of what grant you would qualify for.

The FAFSA needs to be filled out electronically at www.fafsa.ed.gov more information at <https://studentaid.ed.gov/home>

Freshman Advice for Scholarships

1. Start looking for scholarships today. It's not too early! There are scholarships out there for students of most any age.
2. Your grades don't have to be perfect to get scholarships. However, your eligibility for scholarships increases GREATLY when you keep your GPA above at 3.0.
3. NOW is the time to get involved in clubs, activities and community service! Keep track of your volunteer and service projects and hours, as well as any certificates, awards and honors you receive. Start a folder to keep track of all your hours; you'll need this documentation later to fill out scholarships.

Sophomore Advice for Scholarships

1. Start saving your essays that might be adapted to college admissions essays or scholarship application essays.
2. Stay involved in school and community activities.
3. Begin to incorporate leadership into your activities. Many students believe that leadership is limited to the President of the National Honor Society or Vice President of the student council. While these are great examples of leadership, there are a lot of other ways to be a leader. If you are helping coach a little league team, working as a camp counselor, or if you are tutoring others; you are a leader. If you organized the church dinner or were chairperson of a committee, you have leadership experience.
4. Keep your resume up to date with all of the great things you've been doing.
5. Take the PLAN for practice for the ACT test.

Junior Advice for Scholarships

1. Keep your grades up and stay involved in school and community activities.
2. Get registered on UtahFutures.org, Fastweb.com, Cappex.com, Zinch.com, and/or Collegeboard.org scholarship search engines.
3. Start thinking about your interests to begin thinking of a career/major and begin looking into colleges that would best fit you.
4. Start thinking about whom you would like to ask to be references for scholarships. You should choose people who have seen your dedication and hard work. You need to give at least two weeks for someone to write a letter of recommendation for you.
5. Take the PSAT on Oct 15, 2014. This test, taken as a Junior, puts you in the "running" for the National Merit Scholarship (depending on your scores.)
6. Try an internship or part-time job in the careers that interest you.
7. Take the ACT Test (possibly twice), plan on taking it again as a senior.
8. Start your Master Scholarship Application
<http://www.timpview.provo.edu/index.php/registration/scholarships>

Senior Advice for Scholarships

1. Take the ACT early so that you can take it again and scores will be back before college application and scholarship deadlines. For some colleges, the October ACT test is the last one that can be used for college scholarships and admissions.

2. Create a Master Scholarship Application

<http://www.timpview.provo.edu/index.php/registration/scholarships>

3. Get organized. Set up scholarship application files by the month they are due.

4. Plan on spending at least one hour a week searching or completing scholarship applications. Submit them early. Don't wait for the actual due dates. Applications will not be accepted late. (If you don't submit an application, you won't get a scholarship.) They get easier and almost enjoyable after you have done a couple, plus your odds go up too.

5. Have you asked a teacher for a letter of recommendation? Many scholarships require one or two letters of recommendation as part of their application. Give your teacher or counselor at least two weeks notice. Bring them an educational resume to help them know of your accomplishments.

6. Apply to at least three colleges - your "safe" school (don't overlook UVU), your "reach" school and your "dream" school. Situations may change and you want to have multiple options when you graduate.

7. Discuss finances with your parents – what is the plan to pay for college?

Is it all your responsibility? Are they willing to pay for part/all of your tuition/housing/food/books/fees? Will you qualify for FAFSA? Will you be working while you attend college? Will you qualify for any scholarships?

8. Apply for Financial Aid beginning in January of your senior year www.fafsa.ed.gov

9. Take a road trip - visit the college campuses of your potential schools.

10. Prepare a personal statement that you can use for applications and scholarships.

11. www.UtahFutures.org – Search colleges, scholarships, careers, build your resume.

12. Reserve housing if you plan to live on campus.

Make sure to pick up a scholarship booklet (or view it on the Timpview website) to become more familiar with the scholarships, awards and opportunities that we, at Timpview High School, have had experience with. You are also encouraged to visit the College/Career Center for applications and advice.

January 1st - Free Application for Financial Aid - Seniors

First day that you can file your 2016-2017 (college year) FAFSA.

Reasons to File Your FAFSA - Reprinted from FASTWEB.com Bridget Kulla

Submitting your Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) can be a complicated process. From digging through information on your family's assets to decoding income tax forms, filling out the FAFSA is a hassle, so why bother? Here are five reasons why it's worth it.

- 1. Federal Aid -Do you want some of the more than $80 billion the federal government provides in grants, loans and work-study programs every year? Federal Student Aid programs are the largest source of student aid in the United States. The only way to be considered for Pell Grants, Perkins Loans, Stafford Loans and more is by submitting your FAFSA.
- 2. State Aid -Your FAFSA also puts you in consideration for state financial aid programs. Eligibility and deadline dates for these programs differ by state, but they all have one thing in common -- they require the FAFSA. Learn more about the financial aid your state offers its residents at your state's higher education agency.
- 3. School Aid - Colleges and private scholarship sponsors offer billions of dollars in financial aid. Even if you don't have a high level of financial need, you may be eligible for these awards. Most colleges and many private scholarship sponsors require students to submit their FAFSA to be considered for financial aid. Some school and private scholarship programs are specifically designed for students who were rejected for federal financial aid, so even if you don't think you'll qualify for federal aid; it's a smart move to submit your FAFSA.
- 4. It's Free -A completed FAFSA will put you in consideration for federal, state, college and private scholarships and it's completely free. The only thing you'll spend completing your FAFSA is a few minutes of your time, and you could get thousands of dollars of financial aid in return.
- 5. Getting Help is Easy and Free - Not only is submitting your FAFSA free, but it may be easier to complete than you realize. Don't know how to figure out your parents' net worth? Don't worry. When you complete your FAFSA online help is built into the system, so you won't get bogged down by the form's confusing financial jargon. You can still submit your questions online at the FAFSA Web site if you choose to fill out the paper form, or you can call the Federal Student Aid Information Center at 1-800-4-FED-AID (1-800-433-3243).

Many high schools and colleges offer help with FAFSA Day, an event usually in February. If your school doesn't host a FAFSA Day, check with other schools in your area to see if you can attend their FAFSA Day. Federal, state and private financial aid can be within your reach when you submit your FAFSA, so what are you waiting for? FAFSA forms become available on or before January 1st each year. Submit your FAFSA as soon after January 1st to have the best shot at financial aid.

Timpview FAFSA completion nights:

February 24th 2015 6-8 p.m.

Don't just send in your FAFSA and expect the money to start rolling in. Many financial aid programs require additional forms besides the FAFSA, so check the requirements for state, school and private awards to make sure your application is complete
